General Instructions

On behalf of the book editors and the AAOS publications department, thank you again for agreeing to prepare a manuscript for publication in the fourth edition of the Atlas of Amputations and Limb Deficiencies.

The assigned length of your chapter and the deadline for submitting the first draft of your manuscript are specified in the instruction letter that was sent to you via Editorial Manager (EM). Because we would like to maintain a reasonable length for the book, please adhere to the assigned page limit as closely as possible. Provide only the number of illustrations necessary to enhance your chapter (no more than 15 figures and tables per chapter unless specifically noted in your instruction letter).

To make this book as useful as possible for our readers, please focus on the content assigned in your instruction letter. Although some basic information may need to be included, it is important to focus on significant discoveries, materials, and methods applicable to the topic of your chapter. Please do not repeat verbatim or paraphrase any material from the previous edition unless you have been specifically assigned the task of updating a previously published chapter. Because much has changed since the publication of the third edition of this book in 2004, the entire chapter should be newly written and not previously published elsewhere (including AAOS publications).

The content of the chapters is the responsibility of the chosen author(s). Residents should not be used to write these chapters and will not be credited as authors. If you want to add another author to your chapter, please discuss this with the book editor(s) assigned to your chapter. The book editor must approve the addition of an author. Please contact your assigned book editor if you have any questions regarding the content of your chapter.

Please refer to the guidelines in the AAOS Author Handbook when preparing your manuscript and illustrations.

Your instruction letter specified the template (A through G) that should be used to structure the layout of your chapter.

This publication uses a numbered reference list organized by the order in which the references appear in the text. Please limit your reference list to no more than 50 important references. For journals, please provide the names of all the authors, title of the article, name of the journal (Medline abbreviation preferred), year of publication, volume number and page range of the article. For a book, please provide the names of the author(s) of the chapter, chapter title, name(s) of the book editors, name of the book, edition of the book if not the first edition, city and state of the publisher, name of the publisher, date of publication, and page range of the chapter. Below are two examples to show the proper formatting of references.

Illustrations

Illustrations include radiographs, patient photographs, line drawings, etc. These should be uploaded to Editorial Manager as digital files (JPEG or TIFF) preferred. Do not embed figures in the Word document, please upload as separate files. PowerPoint images are generally not useable. Upload the raw files that were used to place the image in PowerPoint. If you have an original sketch, we will have it redrawn by a medical illustrator. Please submit a good quality rough sketch, with labels if appropriate.

Be sure to provide a legend for each figure/illustration. If the figure has multiple parts, describe specifically what is shown in each part. Each table requires a title.
